

Prior to 2012, the Census Bureau reported the family income of women with recent births in our detailed fertility tables. However, due to data changes in the Current Population Survey (CPS) in 2012, tabulations of births by income were not included in the 2012 or 2014 tables. We have now created parallel measures using the American Community Survey (ACS). In order to generate a time series, these data were tabulated for 2006, 2010, and 2014, and are released here as Table A. In 2016 and beyond, these data will appear as Table 7 in the detailed fertility tables.
